

家庭教育資訊素養與倫理教育宣導

因應疫情在家，線上宣導資訊安全之重要性

The screenshot shows a Google Meet window with a presentation slide titled "網路影音及網路遊戲的識讀與待讀" (Reading and Understanding Online Video and Games). The slide includes a sub-heading "■ 選擇合適的螢幕" (Choose appropriate screens) and a list item: "■ 首先，如果是在家中，建議利用電視螢幕來觀看網路影片。因為螢幕較大，孩子坐在沙發上較能與電視螢幕保持一定的距離。此外，宜由家長操控（平板）電腦或手機，以防止孩子點選到不適宜的影片。" (First, if at home, it is recommended to use a television screen to watch online videos. Because the screen is larger, children sitting on the sofa can maintain a certain distance from the television screen. Additionally, it is advisable for parents to control (tablet) computers or mobile phones to prevent children from clicking on inappropriate videos.) The slide also features an illustration of a boy and a girl running in a field. On the right side of the Meet window, there are three video thumbnails: the top one shows a person with the name "俊豪" (Jun Hao) in a pink circle, and the other two show other participants. The bottom of the window shows the standard Google Meet controls and a system taskbar at the bottom of the screen.

The slide has a light blue background with the title "你知道，你的孩子看了什麼嗎？" (Do you know what your child has watched?). Below the title is a list item: "■ 2016年開始，網路上陸續出現了许多惡意卡通、惡意頻道及惡意遊戲，改作知名的卡通人物，將劇情改向暴力、恐懼、色情等主題，這類型的不良卡通後來稱為「艾莎門事件（Elsagate）」，許多網路團體或媒體開始關注與探討惡意卡通對兒少造成的負面影響。" (Starting in 2016, many malicious cartoons, malicious channels, and malicious games appeared on the Internet, changing the well-known cartoon characters into themes of violence, fear, and pornography. This type of bad cartoon was later called "Elsagate", and many online groups or media began to pay attention to and discuss the negative impact of malicious cartoons on children.) The slide also features an illustration of a boy and a girl running in a field. In the bottom right corner, there is a small video thumbnail showing two people eating "Popping candy" (跳跳糖) with the text "팝핑캔디 Popping candy" above them.
